

LITERARY EVENING IN NEW YORK

11 November 1966. New York. A literary evening with Ukrainian poets D. PAVLYCHKO and I. DRACH was held at the Overseas Club. It was organized by American Ukrainian intelligentsia and the discussion "club Round Table." There were present over 200 writers, artists, university and college professors, medical doctors and engineers - residents of New York, Philadelphia, Trenton and also Toronto (Canada).

The chairman, professor of New York's "Hunter College", V. HOLUBNYCHIY, introduced to those present the guests from the Ukraine, and in his opening address briefly talked about their works.

D. PAVLYCHKO and I. DRACH told about the achievements in Ukrainian Soviet literature and the arts, and read their poems.

In conclusion the writers answered questions asked of them.

(The above is a translation of an article which appeared in the 17 November 1966 issue of Literaturna Ukraina. Victor CHERNYAVSKY told [] that he had mailed to Kiev an article about the Literary Evening in which he stated nothing but the facts - no added commentary of "our own". He said the article would appear in Literaturna Ukraina or Radvanska Ukraina.)
